01 PROFILE

Multidisciplinary architecture student with a strong science background and a growing practice across art, architectural design, model making, web development, and creative coding. I work by turning ideas into visible or working outcomes - from hand-built architectural models and drawings to interactive websites and educational video content. My current academic path began in Architecture at BRAC University (Summer 2026), while I am actively working toward a transition into Computer Science & Engineering. I bring persistence, visual sensitivity, technical curiosity, and an independent learning mindset to new problems.
